Shepherdstown, West Virginia

This month, PGPresents celebrates nine years of helping borrowers manage their student loans. Started in August 2008 with a handful of medical schools and recent medical school graduates as clients, PGPresents has steadily grown into the industry leader in providing comprehensive, timely, and accurate repayment information for its clients, all the while garnering an impeccable reputation for fairness and quality of service.

PGPresents has now helped hundreds of thousands of borrowers through its extremely popular workshops, Debt Management Listservs, toll-free borrower assistance, work through health professions associations, and its customized repayment modules, and yet as it has grown each year, PGPresents continues to maintain strict adherence to its “Standards of Care” on which the company was built.

“We were committed to doing right by borrowers from day one and that commitment still drives us today. Our proven consultation model helps borrowers of every discipline and degree program not only develop successful repayment strategies, but also helps ensure they have help in the future whenever their circumstances change, and all at no additional cost. Our objective, unbiased approach empowers borrowers to make decisions that work for them, and our experience in guiding them to those decisions is simply second to none. We’re especially grateful to the many schools and health professions associations who continue to trust PGPresents with their borrowers by working with us to craft customized debt management programs for their students, alumni, and constituents.”
